WISCONSIN STEEL CO MINE HAS SHUT DOWN

HARLAN, Ky Nov 11—The Wisconsin Steel Company of Benham, near Lynch, the largest coal mine in Harlan county, has shut down its No 2 mine, throwing out of employment 400 men From information through fairly authenticated sources it appears that the reasons are large stocks of coal on hand at their Chicago mills and ability to buy from the central competitive field cheaper than they can produce it with the long freight haul The demand for all grades of coal is so weak and prices at or below cost of production that leading operators predict that many more shutdowns will follow soon

COAL SITUATION IN HARLAN COUNTY

Has No Brighter Outlook for the Next One or Two Months or Maybe Longer

The coal situation throughout Harlan county has in the past two weeks gone into a depression that has not been experienced for some time

Several mines are cutting down their forces and other operations are shutting down, due to the bad slump in the coal market caused by over-production and the lack of consumption

There has not been any cut in the wages in Harlan coalfields and the operators do not anticipate any cut in their men's wages However, the larger per cent of the operations now working are running at a loss as the cost of production in most instances is far more than the market price of coal On an average coal that is being mined in Harlan county at a cost of $2 00 a ton is now selling at a market price of 60 to 75 cents a ton Some of the coal sell for 85 cents and is produced at a cost of about $2 40

There is practically no market for fine coal or slack and the market for domestic coal is nearly as bad The majority of the coal from this field is used throughout the Ohio Valley some goes to the Great Lakes, and some even as far as west Idaho

The car situation in quite adequate for the present shipments and all the coal that is sold is handled easily enough

The following interesting information given out this week at the offices of the directors of the Harlan County Coal Operators Association gives considerable light on the cause of the present situation

There are sixty million tons of coal now in storage throughout the country, or about 20 per cent more than there was at the time of the signing of the Armistice at the close of the war

If the coal that is now stored was equally divided throughout the country there would be enough to supply the average demand of every place in the United States for six weeks —Harlan Enterprise

FORK RIDGE COMMISSARY AND ENTIRE STOCK DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING

Two Dwelling Houses Also Burn—Origin of Fire Unknown, Discovered When Whole Place Ablaze—$50,000 Loss

BUCKET BRIGADES FIGHT FLAMES TILL EXTINGUISHED

The commissary at Fork Ridge and its entire stock of goods and two dwelling houses were destroyed by fire of unknown origin at an early hour this morning No estimate of the damage has been made though it will amount toaround $50,000.

Stanley Sweet, who was asleep in the upper story of the store building, discovered the fire at 1 30 this morning He was awakened by the smoke and flames and was almost suffocated when he awakened He escaped by jumping from a second story window into a blanket held for him The fire had laready gained considerable headway

The alarm was given and soon after the other people of the mining camp were astir Bucket brigades were formed and water, carried from the creek, was thrown on surrounding houses. Efforts to save the commissary building were futile as the greedy flames ate into the frame structure and soon destroyed. The residence houses of W R Loveday and L C Poe, which were located near the burning building were burned to the ground before the flames could be extinguished. Both were large two story buildings. Other houses across the road were badly scorched

An engine from the L & N yards was sent to scene and aisted in throwing water on the buildings. All other houses near the fire were thoroughly soaked with water and, though considerable water damage resulted, no more of the houses caught fire. There was no wind and this lessened the danger of the fire spreading, though at one time the whole camp was in danger.

An order for groceries and other supplies was sent to Middlesboro shortly after the outbreak of the fire and were received in time to relieve the immediate needs of the residents A temporary building will be erected to house these goods until a more substantial commissary can be built.

The loss is partly covered by insurance, according to a statement of anofficial this morning, this being on the commissary and dwellings.

No efforts were made to have the Middlesboro fire department engine brought to the scene at the time but later today the engine went up and put out the last smouldering fires

The Fork Ridge commissary was one of the largest in this section of the country Officials of the company have not made any statement as to the aggregate damages, though it is said that it is probably $50,000 or more.

AUTO CLUB FOR ROAD TO SOUTH

Lexington Endorses Action to Keep Dixie Highway in Passable Condition

LEXINGTON Nov 14—The directors of the Lexington Automobile Club Saturday night went on record as heartily endorsing the effort to keep the eastern division of the Dixie Highway in passable condition for southern travel during the winter months, which is being made by automobile clubs and civic organizations along the routing

If this road can be maintained in passable condition throughout the winter months, it will mean thousands of dollars to Lexington merchants in tourist trade as the Dixie Highway taps the heart of the central states, running through Detroit, Dayton, Cincinnati, Lexington, Knoxville Chattanooga, Atlanta and the South," W C G Hobbs, president of the Automobile Club, declared last night.

In a letter received Saturday by Secretary Fred K Augsburg from the Knoxville Automobile Club, the condition of the routing through Cumberland Gap to Knoxville were given as follows

'We want to tell you that now the new road between Pineville and Barbourville, which is of concrete base with rock asphalt top, is finished and open to tourists The road from Barbourville to Corbin is over the old road, and is in good shape in dry weather, but in wet weather you may have to have chains There are no dangerous places on this road and it will be kept in good shape for tourists all winter. This makes the road from Corbin through Barbourville, Pineville Middlesboro Cumberland Gap and Tazewell to Knoxville in fine shape '

'The line from Corbin to Knoxville through Cumberland Gap, is not a part of the Dixie Highway, but this will be decidedly the best road into the Tennessee city during the winter,' Secretary Augsburg said

Approximately $10,000 was raised at a meeting in Barbourville last week for the purpose of putting road crews to work immediately to keep the road in all weather conditions, it was announced The plan was presented to Kiwanis Clubs by representatives of the Asheville Western Carolina Motor Club

CONDITION OF BRIDGES IN CITY'S OUTSKIRTS

Almost every day we hear complaint [illegible] the condition of bridges in the outskirts of Middlesboro. Most of these bridges automobiles are able to skim over without difficulty. There are a number of Middlesboro people and visitors to Middlesboro who come back to town and to these people the bridges are a real source of danger.

There is a particularly bad bridge on the Noe own road, another one out by the [illegible], the Emerson bridge has been in very bad condition for some time and there are several bridges in the East End as well as other places, that are positively dangerous for a horse to passover. Several instances in which horses have stepped into holes in these bridges, injuring them or barely escaping injury have been noted recently.

Middlesboro has been very diligent during the past few months in the repair of its streets. All of the principal streets in the city have been put in splendid shape or will have been by the first of the year. Furthermore, the city has made provision during the past week for the purchase of equipment to keep these streets in good condition both as regards repair and cleanliness.

In the midst of this we must not forget the outlying sections. Asphalt streets are not practicable in many of these places but the city can keep the roads smooth by [illegible] and can keep the bridges in better condition.

WINDS

The North Wind is a chill wind,
A shrill wind,
A cold wind,
It whistles of the windy seas and of the frozen trail,
A strong wind and a cruel, a harsh and bitter cold wind,
But it calls hard-bitten rovers to brave the storm and gale.

The East Wind is a low wind,
A slow wind,
An old wind,
That whispers of the Orient and [illegible] of Cathay,
A mystical and ancient wind, a Never Never Land wind,
Where the old people calmly [illegible] the autumn away.

The West Wind is a keen wind,
A clean wind,
A brisk wind,
It calls to blithe adventures to seek the frontier,
[illegible]
A [illegible] never mind the rest [illegible] wind,
The breath of open country and of azure skies and clear.

The South Wind is a shy wind,
A sly wind,
A warm wind,
That breathes of love and flowers [illegible] waters [illegible]
So North or South or East or West
The [illegible] always is a charming wind
[illegible] it hard for wanderer to [illegible] long at home.

America's Favorite Songs

The story of how Francis Scott Key wrote the Star Spangled Banner is well known. Like many other patriotic songs it was inspired by a momentous occasion.

In the summer of 1814 Dr. Beanes, [illegible] had been taken captive by the English.

Key, a young lawyer of Baltimore and a friend of Beanes, [illegible] under a flag of truce to the British [illegible] Washington [illegible] British admiral [illegible]

[illegible] Fort McHenry [illegible] bombardment [illegible] the British [illegible] night on the [illegible] Key [illegible] the early [illegible] the flag was still there and Fort McHenry [illegible]

Historic Written

And then Key [illegible] that night in [illegible] Baltimore [illegible] for the first time what is now the Star Spangled Banner. [illegible] electric. A week later the poem was printed [illegible] with the [illegible] Anacreon in Heaven [illegible] English [illegible] that Key chose [illegible] music.

Key was born in Maryland Aug. 1, 1779. He died Jan. 11, 1843. Over his grave [illegible] Frederick [illegible] the American flag [illegible] day and night. The new bridge [illegible] Washington [illegible] the Key Bridge [illegible] his honor.

Star Spangled Banner

O say can you see
By the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed
At the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars
Thru the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watched
Were so gallantly streaming.
And the rockets' red glare,
The bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thru the night
That our flag was still there.
O say does that Star Spangled
Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave.

On the shore dimly seen
Thru the mists of the deep
Where the foe's haughty host
In dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze
O'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows,
Half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam
Of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected
Now shines in the stream
'Tis the Star Spangled Banner
O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave.

Oh, thus be it ever
When freemen shall stand
Between their loved home
And the war's desolation
Blest with victory and peace
May the heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made
And preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must
When our cause it is just
And this be our motto
"In God is our trust"
And the Star Spangled Banner
In triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave.

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO HER FIANCE RICHARD SUMMERS

[illegible] Dick [illegible]

[illegible] in Hollywood [illegible] I have never in all my life [illegible]

Neither can I understand why [illegible]

I don't believe you really know me [illegible]

[illegible]

People [illegible] notice [illegible]

[illegible] you left for Hollywood [illegible] told me that I was almost too [illegible] my ideas [illegible] I insisted [illegible] there should be only one standard for both the sexes and now you [illegible]

You are too conventional. Your [illegible] bounded by too many rules [illegible] any merit in these people who [illegible] live demons when they do work [illegible] play and live [illegible] the hours when they are not working in a way [illegible] I have never known reasonable [illegible] people [illegible] before.

I have always thought dear Dick that when [illegible] you and loved you well enough to marry him it was part of the expression of that love to be content in following him wherever he should go. I did not think it would be necessary for me to marry the whole of the moving picture colony when I married you although your [illegible] letters seem to intimate as much.

[illegible] of these people interest me [illegible] They interest me as any other part of your life would interest me, but loving you dear Dick [illegible]

[illegible] dear [illegible] I am afraid that it [illegible] temperament and my likes and dislikes that you are considering [illegible] your own.

[illegible] don't say that I am jealous [illegible] I don't believe in jealousy [illegible] consider it an inferior complex. But I am sure of one thing, Dick, and that is that you [illegible] have changed materially [illegible] you left me. I am not jumping at conclusions but I am going to wait awhile to let you find yourself before I come to you.

Not because [illegible] you think I would not be happy there but because I am not sure that you would be happy to have me there. I want you to be honest not only with me but with yourself.

Until then I am as ever,

Beatrice.

P. S. [illegible] Miss Perier [illegible] entirely [illegible] her fainting fit. You finished your last letter to me hurriedly because for some reason no one seemed able in your mind to bring her out of it but yourself.

And my little lambkin's beginning to nod
And over the starlight your mother's with God
Baby, Baby,
Sleep has come to the birds with the dew
Baby, Baby,
Her eyes were as blue as the eyes of you
Baby, Baby,
Dreams for your slumbers come up from the deep
I loved as she loved, till morning light speak
And mother above us will watch
while we sleep.
Baby, Baby.

Woman's Club Meets Yesterday

An interesting program on Armistice Day was given yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's Club in the library. A good attendance marked the occasion. Mrs. R. G. Hinks presided at the meeting. Reports were heard from the treasurer and secretaries. Solicitation for subscriptions to the Club Woman, the official organ of the Woman's Club were made and the names of a number of new Woman's Club members were read. It was announced that a committee of the following women, Mrs. D. W. Center from the Woman's Club, Mrs. J. T. Alderson from the Choral Club, Mrs. John Sleap of the Music Study Club and Mrs. T. T. Gibslon of the Legion Auxiliary were investigating prices on pianos with a view to purchasing one for these organizations' joint use in the club room. The club voted to attend an electric stove demonstration at the Kentucky Utilities office at 2 p. m. Saturday.

The program follows; Song by Club, "America, the Beautiful;" flag ceremony by Girl Scouts, Misses Elizabeth and Minnie Mae Chandler, Elizabeth Cleland and Lola Smith, the club joining them in singing the "Star Spangled Banner;" a Red Cross tableau in costume, in which little Miss Harriet Dinger, first to appear, sang a solo, and Murrell Hubbard, attended by seven little girls, explained the work of the Red Cross in Middlesboro; an interesting talk by Miss Bessie Edwards on Armistice Day; reading of Bell county's World War heroes; Mrs. J. R. Hoe; song, "Lest We Forget," by Miss Alice Gloster, accompanied by Miss Lillian Seay; announcement by Mrs. R. L. Maddox of the Red Cross roll call today; and prayer by the Rev. W. K. McClure. The seven little girls attending Murrell Hubbard in the tableau were; Susan Bailey, Marjorie Smith, Nancy Mitchell, Joan Colgan, Nell Elizabeth Smith, Vivian Johnson and Betsy Veal.

After the program tea and sandwiches were served by the following committee: Mrs. F. M. Gordon, Mrs. J. P. Edmonds, Mrs. Eugene Smith, Mrs. O. R. Austin, Mrs. Will Motch and Mrs. W. R. Pool.

Christmas Gifts

Headdresses are very fashionable now and are sure to be in evidence at the Christmas parties. For bobbed heads these are frequently made of silver flowers mounted on a silver ribbon. For the more dignified types are the more elaborate specimens such as the one sketched above, made of silver cloth fitted over a foundation three or four inches wide, outlined with pearls or rhinestones or a combination of both.

All in the Fit

"What's the matter with Smith? Got lumbago or spinal curvature or something?"

"No, he has to walk that way to fit some shirts his wife made him."—Exchange.

Old women are Germany's chief sufferers. This picture might well be called the greatest human interest photograph to come from the "new" Germany. It shows them waiting patiently at a Salvation Army soup station. They are holding coupons—money is worthless.

A Good Judge

Wife—I was taken in to dinner by that officer you introduced me to. He was quite nice, and remarked upon my birdlike appetite.

Hubby—Well, he should be a good judge on that point, dear. He runs an ostrich farm in South Africa.—Selected.

Why Put It Off?

"Do you have to see a doctor before you get booze in this town?"

"No, afterwards."—Harvard Lampoon.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go. I was thin. I had no appetite. Could not rest or sleep well. I was so weak and so very nervous, I was no pleasure to myself.

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so weak and easy to get tired and out of heart.

"This nervous condition was worse than pain.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I decided to use it.

"After using a few bottles, I regained my strength. I wasn't so nervous, and began to eat and sleep, and grew stronger and was soon well.

The Railroads are a Barometer of Business

There is no better standard by which to judge business conditions and forecast the future than the volume of traffic being carried by the railroads. Because of the vital inter-dependence of the railroads and general business enterprises, prosperity, or the lack of it, affects both of them alike.

Just now the factories of the nation are working almost full blast, and the farms have produced bounteous crops. The railroads are successfully handling an unprecedented amount of business, and the volume is steadily growing. These conditions not only denote a present healthy state of business activity, but foretell a continuation of our national prosperity.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad has made, and is continuing to make, extended improvements to its transportation plant to care for the increased traffic demands, which registers the general business prosperity of the thirteen states it serves.

In order that business may move unhampered, and the barometer of progress and prosperity may not go down, the L & N has appropriated, during the past year, over fifty million dollars for work designed to improve its service. It just recently purchased over fifty thousand tons of new rails for 1924---costing over $2,100,000.

The L. & N. Railroad joins with the other railroads in asking that you consider the facts and do not, directly or indirectly, give your approval to the radical and destructive regulative measures now being proposed for the railroads by those who know nothing of railroading. "Regulation" of the railroads will automatically regulate business. Help to keep the barometer of business from falling.

WOMEN LEARN NEW COOKING METHODS

At Special K. U. Demonstration

AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC STOVE DEMONSTRATORS AT K. U. OFFICE SHOWS IDEAL WAY TO PREPARE MEALS

How a complete meal may be cooked by the Toledo Automatic Cookstove by simply placing the articles of food in the cooker and how each food is cooked in its own moisture, thus retaining all richness of flavor, are explained and demonstrated by J B Riley, factory representative, and Miss Louise Hammond, at the Kentucky Utilities salesroom today

Hot coffee, hot ham sandwiches and cake, prepared by Miss Hammond with the automatic cooker, have been served to scores of people today Women who are making the Red Cross roll call drive were served with lunch as were many others who attended the demonstration

"The fireless cooker idea is not new," Mr Riley state "In fact, it was first used by the Indians who made holes in the ground and, after bringing their cooking to the proper degree of heat, placed it in the hole which was then covered o retain the heat"

From this crude idea, the fireless cooker has undergone a process of evolution which, carrying it through the crude hay box fireless cooker stage and the ordinary fireless cooker, has resulted in the automatic electric cook stove By a method that is s odelicate and intricate that it is almost uncanny, the stove automatically turns off its heat when the proper temperature is reached This is done by the moisture emanating from the food when it reaches the proper stage and reaching the thermostat which turns off the heat

Surrounded by thick walls of mineral wool, the cooking wells retain the heat, thus thoroughly cooking the food No water is put in food which is to be cooked Evaporation i impossible in the stove, thus making it possible to cook the food in its own moisture, a method that makes it far superior in richness and flavor to the ordinary method by which a large percentage of food value is wasted by evaporation Mr Riley says that a number of foods may be cooked at the same time in the stove and that none will be tainted by the other Even onions and custard may be prepared at the same time an dneither will taste of the other he says

Though the amount of current required for the automatic cooker is scarcely more than that used by the electric iron, the saving of fuel is not the principal advantage of the new method The saving of time effected by its use is its most important feature The few minutes required to place the foods in the sto and to take them out constitutes the time for pepairing a complete meal The housewife can place the foods in their proper places, then leave, go visiting and when she returns the meal will be ready for serving

A Hoosier kitchen cabinet and white table, furnished by Sterchi Bros & Tennent, is being used for the demonstration by Miss Hammond The coffee is made by a Tricolator furnished by the Jellico Grocery Company The coffee which has an unusual richness of flavor is the Cumberland Club brand and is also furnished by the Jellico Grocery Company Roient flour, which Miss Hammond says is ideal for making cakes is furnished by the Middlesboro Wholesale Grocery company, through Chambers Grocery company, retailers

All employes of the K U company were served with lunch prepared by the demonstrators yesterday The salesroom has been a place of interes for women during the entire day All who came were served with free coffee and lunch

Substantial Luncheon Dishes

Now that canned vegetables must take the place of fresh ones, many dishes of vegetables come into their own These dishes are specially nice for luncheon as they are usually almost a meal in themselves

Spanish rice is a healthy dish that might well form the principal food for a substantial noon day meal This with brown or whole wheat bread and butter, celery and a simple fruit dessert forms a well balanced meal that requires little time to prepare

Mock Sausages

One-half cup dried lima beans, ½ cup fine dried bread crumbs, ¼ cup chopped peanuts, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper

Canned lima beans can be used in this recipe

If dried ones are used, soak beans in cold water for three hours Parboil in soda water for 10 minutes Drain and rinse in clear cold water Boil in salted water until tender Drain and use as canned limas Rub beans through a strainer Add bread crumbs, nuts, egg slightly beaten, butter, salt and pepper to bean pulp Mix well and shape in the form of small sausages Roll in bread crumbs and fry in a frying pan

When canned vegetables such as beans peas or asparagus are used they should be opened and rinsed in clear cold water

Pea Souffle

Three tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup peas rubbed through strainer, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon minced parsley

Make a white sauce of butter flour, milk and salt Measure pulp of peas after rubbing through strainer Add to white sauce Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately Add yolks beaten until thick and lemon colored to mixture Add pepper and fold in whites beaten stiff and dry Turn into a well buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until firm to the touch It will take from 30 to 40 minutes

Asparagus in ramekins is used for dinner when the meat is light or as the main dish for luncheon

Asparagus in Ramekins

One cup canned asparagus, 2 hard boiled eggs, 1½ cups white sauce, 4 teaspoons grated cheese, 1 tablespoon grated bread crumbs, salt and pepper

Cut asparagus into inch lengths Put a layer of asparagus in each ramekin, add slices of hard boiled egg and pour over white sauce to cover Season with salt and pepper Sprinkle with bread crumbs and cheese and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven

Let Bonus Wait, Demands Disabled Veterans' Chief

WASHINGTON, Nov. [illegible]—The bonus can wait!

Legislation affecting disabled service men must be given priority.

That's the cry that's going up from the Disabled American Veterans of the [illegible] War as the convening of the [illegible] session of Congress ap[illegible] [illegible] is handed down in [illegible] Armistice Day message National Commander James A. McFarland has given the American people.

In it, he sets forth the claims of the thousands of men for whom the "war is not yet over."

His statement follows:

Despite the fact that Armistice Day is being celebrated, our citizens should not be unmindful of the fact that there are tens of thousands in this country for whom the was is not yet over.

In fact, for this great group of our fighters our disabled veterans Nov. 11, 1918, marked the beginning rather than the end of the battle.

Five years ago the guns were silenced on the western Argonne. Today tens of thousands of the war's maimed pause for a second cessation of hostilities as they watch the reaction of the public to the results of their bitter battle to bring before the people their claims of justice.

These are being developed now by the testimony before the Senatorial committee investigating charges of waste, inefficiency, and indifference in the Veterans' Bureau.

Sincerity of Efforts

Last December the Disabled American Veterans of the World War made its supreme efforts to force the truth on the people generally and Congress particularly. We experienced no end of difficulty, but now the revelations are being unfolded.

Even though our criticism has at times been most bitter, those high in the affairs of the nation now realize the sincerity of our endeavors.

Only recently we received from President Coolidge a letter in which he says:

"Your organization has shown a fine spirit of co-operation with the government instrumentalities engaged in this difficult task, for which I am glad to express appreciation."

From General Hines, the present director of the bureau, we have received a similar message.

While we rejoice on this anniversary over the fact that the investigation is well under way, the next move of the disabled is to effect sweeping and permanent reformations so that the bureau will be improved in every way.

Disabled First

When Congress reconvenes next month it will be swamped with proposed measures of various and sundry sorts, each excellent, perhaps in itself, and each supported by different groups of former service men.

Convinced that it is the belief, intention and spirit of the American people that the first obligation is to those indelibly scarred in the defense of the nation, the Disabled American Veterans of the World War is today squarely before the country and Congress with a demand that legislation for the disabled be given priority when Congress returns to Washington in December.

Each piece of legislation must have a relative position, so far as time is concerned. And we are most emphatic in our assertion that no unwounded veteran has a right to ask the disabled to wait while some assistance is accorded those for whom no emergency exists.

Dedicated as a body to help those who cannot individually help themselves, the Disabled American Veterans today enter a new era a real period of armistice in which America will have a clearer appreciation of our problem and a more grim determination that neglect of those for whom the war still endures must be lastingly ended.

Favorite Plays OF FAMOUS COACHES

BY A. M. BARRON

Coach Michigan Aggies

The play I regard as my favorite is commonly known as the "reverse."

No. 1 back receives the ball on a direct pass from center. He in turn gives the ball to No. 2 who cuts back between defensive end and tackle.

No. 2 and the inside tackle follow the course outlined in the diagram, taking the end out of the play. No. 3 leads the play, taking the first free defensive man.

The right guard comes around and helps the left end with the opposing tackle.

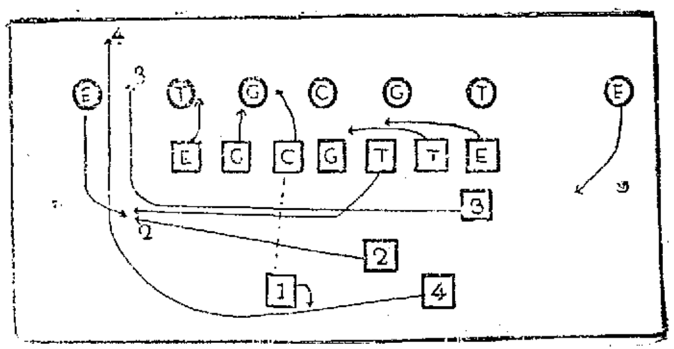
The left end of the defensive tackle with right guard.

This play should be used after the end run or off-tackle play on the right has been run and the opposition is shifted to meet it.



"CUDDLE-UP" FULL OF SONG MERRIMENT AND LAUGHTER

The scene at the Manring theatre Friday night will be one of laughter, merriment and song; the attraction being the musical comedy sensation "Cuddle-Up" presented by a company of comedians, singers and dancers. O. E. Wee, under whose management "Cuddle-Up" appears has produced an entertainment rich in tuneful melody, song and fun.

A company of about thirty people is employed in the presentation of this hilariously diverting show, which was written for amusement purposes. One of the salient features is the musical program, which is replete with gems, and many song hits will linger in your memory after you have heard them. "Cuddle-Up" is purely a concoction of fun and merriment and it is the type of entertainment which appeals to those who want to be amused.

The story of the comedy is not a complicated one and it is punctuated with so many diverting features that no one cares much about a plot. The company is a pretentious one and includes such well known musical comedy artists as George Selden, Doris Clare, Eldon Baker, Kathleen Brenon, Ralph Coleman, Sweeney and Rooney, The Golden West Trio and others including an attractively gowned chorus which is not only fair to look upon but able to sing tunefully, the numbers alotted them. Many specialties lend an added charm to this wonderful musical show which is sure to be a panacea for the blues.

While anything can happen, it seldom does happen.

SOMERSET DEFEATS PINEVILLE FRIDAY

Loses to Tune of 20 to 6—P. H. S. Will Play Barbourville on Home Grid Friday

PINEVILLE, Nov. 14.—Old Dad Fortune and Mother Luck deserted Pineville Friday and divided the score 20 to 6 in favor of the Somerset visitors. Two teams as evenly matched as will ever be found on High School gridirons fought ruggedly up and down the field, every moment of the game a climax. Cheered on by 300 spectators the Pineville boys plowed through the Somerset [illegible] gains. Pineville [illegible] down while the S[illegible] once during the game [illegible]. The secret of th[illegible] ville lay in the [illegible] work of [illegible] posed of R[illegible] the last thr[illegible]. Murphy deserves [illegible] credit as a tackler and [illegible] a candidate for All [illegible] and things to [illegible] his [illegible]. Humble, a competent [illegible] back and Tipton [illegible] player is right half.

In the first quarter [illegible] ed off to Somerset [illegible] Towns Ross [illegible] the pigskin was [illegible] for practically the whole quarter near the end [illegible] the field with a long run [illegible] Pineville within twenty yards of their goal. [illegible], who deserved the touchdown, finally went over after [illegible] line plunges by McDonald and Mu[illegible] went over for the [illegible] Pineville's only [illegible] of the game, Rollins failing to kick goal.

In the second quarter sensational playing was exhibited by both sides, a few passes being attempted, long end runs and line bucks executed to perfection. Somerset [illegible] Pineville returns and Humble of Somerset races down the side line 7[illegible] yards for a touchdown. Splendid interference brought home the bacon.

In the third quarter a number of passes were executed by each team and the results showed that both teams were players. Neither team scored in this quarter and the quarter ended with Pineville 5 yards from their goal. But the home team somehow couldn't make the grade and fumbled the ball at the critical point.

In the fourth quarter Somerset annexed two more touchdowns, one completed by Murphy at the long end of a forward pass and the other by Ross, All State full back. Pineville seemed to be unable to hold him in the last quarter. Plays were executed with surprising accuracy and Somerset [illegible] the honors.

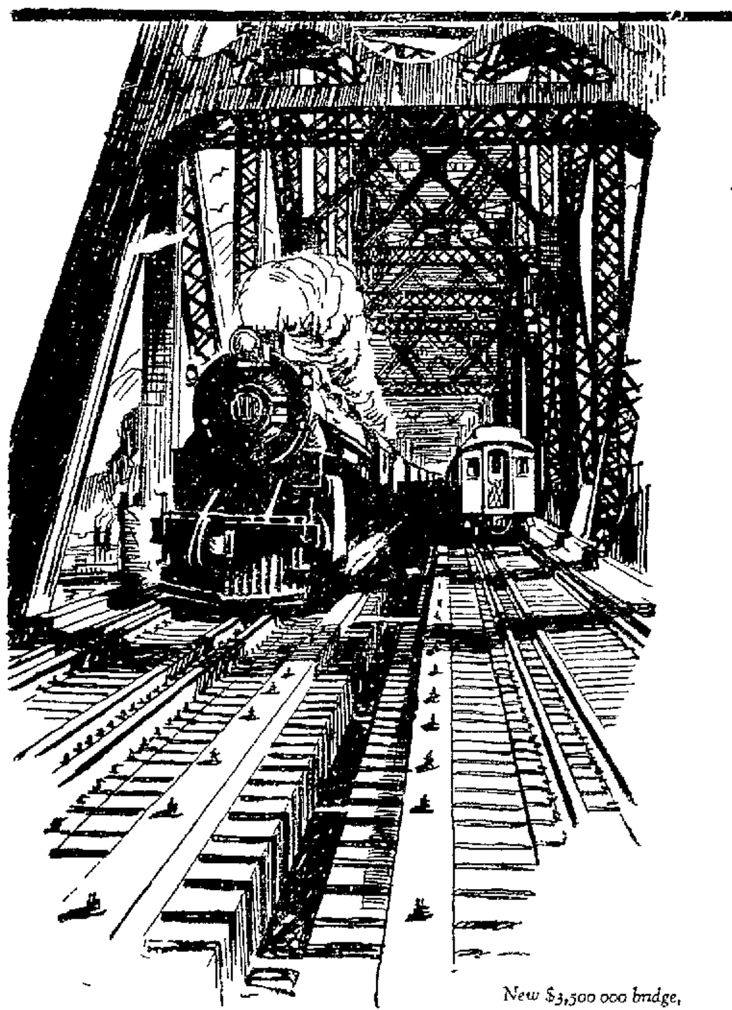
SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM



New $3,500,000 bridge, crossing the Ohio River into Cincinnati, one of the northern gateways of the Southern Railway System.

Southern Railway System deposits in Southern banks an average of $150,500 each banking hour.

Making new capital work for the South

The margin between the cost of producing transportation and the price received for it is so small that it requires the utmost efficiency of management, and the most carefully directed expenditure of new capital, to safeguard even a small return on the investment.

In no other large business enterprise is so great an amount of capital risked for so small a return as in railroad transportation.

The $285,000,000 of new money that has been put into the Southern Railway System in the past twenty years has been largely devoted to increasing capacity and promoting operating efficiency.

We receive many requests for the elimination of grade crossings, the construction of monumental passenger stations, and other non-revenue-producing improvements. The communities we serve naturally desire to have as much of this work done as can be safely financed, but they have recognized that their interests will best be served by expenditures which produce more and better transportation.

It is only because new capital has been expended on productive improvements that the Southern Railway System today is an efficient transportation machine and an asset to the South.
